

Update time is cumulative; integration and decisions are summed over the three reporting times. Cloud implementation timings do not establish a general speed advantage.